Africa's Original Marula Fruit and Orange Indlovu Gin

'Indlovu' is the word for elephant in several African languages. These African giants spend much of their time selectively browsing the bush for their favourite botanicals. Indlovu are passionate about the delicious tangy marula fruits growing naturally in the savannah and wild about oranges too. With their superior sense of smell, an indlovu can sniff out an orange from a great distance so beware they may raid your vehicle for one of these juicy fruits! Marula and oranges contain high levels of antioxidants and vitamin C - a great support for the immune system. Close your eyes, take a sip and indulge in flavours of the African elephants' favoured fruits.

Indlovu fizz:

- 2 shots of Indlovu orange gin
- 4 shots of fresh orange juice
- Splash of lime juice
- Top up with soda water
- Sprig of rosemary
- Slice of orange
